COMPLAINT AND JURY DEMAND

Qui tam relator PatCap, LLC ("PatCap"), for its Complaint against Defendant Thermocraft Industries, Inc. ("Defendant"), alleges as follows:

BACKGROUND

1. This is an action for false patent marking under Title 35, Section 292, of the United States Code.

2. Defendant has marked upon, affixed to, and/or used in advertising in connection with such products the word "patent" and/or words or numbers importing that the product is patented, while Defendant knew that the articles were improperly marked.

See, The Forest Group, Inc. v. Bon Tool Co., 590 F.2d 1295, 1302-04 (Fed. Cir., 2009). More specifically, Defendant has violated 35 U.S.C. § 292(a) by using invalid and unenforceable patent rights in advertising with the purpose of deceiving the public.

3. 35 U.S.C. § 292 exists to provide the public with notice of a party's valid and enforceable patent rights.

4. False marking deters innovation and stifles competition in the marketplace. More specifically, falsely marked articles that are otherwise within the public domain deter potential competitors from entering the same market and confuse the public.

5. False marks may also deter scientific research when an inventor sees a mark and decides to forego continued research to avoid possible infringement.

6. False marking can cause unnecessary investment in costly "design arounds" or result in the incurring of unnecessary costs to analyze the validity or enforceability of a patent whose number has been marked upon a product with which a competitor would like to compete.

7. False marking deceives the public into believing that a patentee controls the article in question, and permits the patentee to impermissibly extend the term of its monopoly.

8. False marking also increases the cost to the public of ascertaining whether a patentee in fact controls the intellectual property embodied in an article. More specifically, in each instance where it is represented that an article is patented, a member of the public desiring to participate in the market for the marked article must incur the cost of determining whether the involved patents are valid and enforceable.

9. False markings may also create a misleading impression that the falsely marked product is technologically superior to other available products, as articles bearing the term "patent" may be presumed to be novel, useful, and innovative.

10. 35 U.S.C. § 292 specifically authorizes qui tam actions to be brought by any person on behalf of the United States government. By permitting members of the public to sue on behalf of the government, Congress allows individuals to help control false marking when the U.S. government does not have the resources to do so.

23. Upon information and belief, Defendant has, or regularly retains, sophisticated legal counsel, including intellectual property counsel.

25. Upon information and belief, Defendant maintains, or its intellectual property counsel maintains on Defendant's behalf, an intellectual property docketing system with respect to Defendant's intellectual property rights, including Defendant's patents.

26. Defendant regularly uses the terms "patent" or "patent pending", or other words or numbers importing that a product is covered by a valid and enforceable patent, in the advertising of its products for sale.

27. Defendant knows that 35 U.S.C. § 292 prohibits a person from marking a product with an expired patent number.

28. Each false marking on the products identified in this Complaint is likely to, or at least has the potential to, discourage or deter persons and companies from commercializing competing products.

29. Defendant's false marking of its products has wrongfully stifled competition with respect to such products thereby causing harm to PatCap, the United States, and the public.

30. Defendant has wrongfully and illegally advertised patent monopolies which it does not possess and, as a result, has benefited by maintaining a substantial market share with respect to the products referenced in this Complaint.

31. Defendant has violated 35 U.S.C. § 292, which prohibits a person from marking a product with an expired patent number.

FALSE MARKING

32. PatCap incorporates by reference the foregoing paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

33. The application for United States Patent No. D344,242 (the "242 Patent"), titled Skimmer test plug, was filed on September 4, 1992 and issued by the United States Patent and Trademark Office ("USPTO") on February 15, 1994. See Exhibit A.

34. The ‘242 Patent expired no later than February 15, 2008, more than 2 years ago.

35. Defendant knew that the ‘242 Patent expired at least as early as 2008.

36. As of September 8, 2010, Defendant continues to use the ‘242 Patent in advertising in connection with the following products (collectively, the “Products”) made, used, offered for sale or sold by Defendant within the United States, despite the fact that the ‘242 Patent expired over 2 years ago: (i) Combination Plug P/N CP450253; (ii) Combination Plug w/ O’Ring P/N CP450253-2; (iii) Skimmer Test Loop Assembly P/N SA450251-1; (iv) Skimmer Test Plug Adapter P/N 475-251; and (v) Skimmer Test Plug Adapter P/N 475-251-2. See Exhibit B (The portions of Defendant’s Product Catalog (the “Catalog”) containing advertisements for the Products. The relevant portions of the Catalog can be obtained at http://www.thermocraftonline.com/ct_PRcp450253.htm, http://www.thermocraftonline.com/ct_PR475-251-2.htm (last retrieved September 8, 2010)).

37. Upon information and belief, Defendant continues to mark upon the Products, or the packaging of the Products, the ‘242 Patent, despite the fact that the ‘242 Patent expired more than 2 years ago.

38. Upon information and belief, Defendant updated the Catalog, including its copyright notice, in 2008, after the expiration of the ‘242 Patent, and purposefully continued to use the ‘242 Patent in the Catalog to advertise the Products with the intent to deceive the public, despite knowing the ‘242 Patent had expired.

39. Defendant knew or should have known that the use of an expired and invalid patent in advertising of the Products and marking the Products with an expired and invalid patent violates 35

U.S.C. § 292, which only authorizes marking on a "patented" article.

40. Defendant intended to deceive the public by using an expired patent in advertising in connection with the Products and marking or causing to be marked the Products with expired patents, despite knowing that the '242 Patent expired more than 2 years ago.
